Course Introduction

Fair Value Measurement (IFRS 13) Training Course is a comprehensive, industry-focused program designed to equip finance professionals, accountants, auditors, valuation experts, and compliance officers with advanced knowledge of fair value accounting principles. IFRS 13 establishes a single framework for measuring fair value and enhances transparency, consistency, and comparability across global financial reporting standards. This course provides deep insights into valuation techniques, market-based measurement, and financial instrument pricing under IFRS compliance requirements.

In today's dynamic financial environment, accurate fair value measurement is essential for investment decisions, financial reporting integrity, and regulatory compliance. This training course explores practical applications of IFRS 13, including real-world valuation models, market inputs hierarchy, and disclosure requirements. Participants will gain hands-on expertise in applying fair value principles across assets, liabilities, and complex financial instruments in both active and inactive markets.
