Genocide Studies in Criminology Training Course

Professional Development Training Course Outline

Category	Criminology	Duration	5 Days
Base Fee	$1,500 USD	Delivery Mode	Online / On-site Hybrid

Course Introduction

The study of genocide within criminology is a powerful lens through which we can understand mass atrocities, state-sponsored violence, and crimes against humanity. Training Course on Genocide Studies in Criminology aims to equip learners with the tools to examine the root causes, historical patterns, international responses, and legal frameworks that define genocidal crimes. With real-world case studies and critical theories, learners will explore how criminological concepts intersect with genocide prevention, justice, and accountability. The course combines investigative research, criminal profiling, international law, forensic analysis, and victimology.

This course is tailored for criminal justice professionals, legal scholars, sociologists, and human rights advocates who want to gain in-depth insights into the socio-political and criminological dynamics of genocide. By using trending methodologies such as transitional justice frameworks, AI-based conflict prediction, and survivor-centered research, participants will emerge with a solid foundation in analyzing and combating genocide using both academic and field-based strategies.
