Base Fee	$1,500 USD	Delivery Mode	Online / On-site Hybrid

Course Introduction

The Kampala Convention, formally known as the African Union Convention for the Protection and Assistance of Internally Displaced Persons in Africa, represents a landmark legal framework for addressing internal displacement on the continent. The Kampala Convention and its Implementation Training Course is designed to equip policymakers, humanitarian actors, and legal practitioners with practical knowledge and strategic approaches for the effective implementation of the Convention. Participants will explore core principles, legal obligations, and operational frameworks, ensuring that internal displacement challenges are met with sustainable, rights-based solutions. Through interactive sessions and practical exercises, learners will gain the skills necessary to transform policy into actionable programs.

With global displacement crises escalating, the need for robust implementation of the Kampala Convention has never been more urgent. This course emphasizes the integration of international law, human rights, and protection standards into national and regional strategies. Participants will acquire evidence-based techniques, engage in scenario analysis, and develop comprehensive intervention plans that enhance resilience and protection for internally displaced populations. The course also addresses contemporary issues such as climate-induced displacement, conflict-related displacement, and post-crisis recovery planning, preparing participants to navigate complex humanitarian landscapes.
