Training Course on Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs): Implementation and Monitoring

Introduction

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) represent a global commitment to address pressing social, economic, and environmental challenges by 2030. Training Course on Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs): Implementation and Monitoring provides participants with a comprehensive understanding of the SDGs, focusing on their implementation and monitoring. By exploring the framework of the SDGs, attendees will learn how to align local initiatives with global goals, ensuring that efforts contribute to sustainable development on a broader scale.

Through a combination of theoretical insights and practical applications, participants will delve into each of the 17 goals, examining strategies for effective implementation and monitoring. The course emphasizes the importance of stakeholder engagement, data collection, and reporting mechanisms. By the end of the course, attendees will be equipped to advocate for and facilitate the integration of SDGs into policies and programs, driving progress towards a more sustainable future.
